

Press Release – August 2006Finance Media - Announces the launch of the Tenfore/FMLX Data Feed Solution

London - Finance Media a UK based provider of financial market applications and data services, today announced the official launch of their new Tenfore/FMLX Data Feed Solution. Combining Finance Media's FMLX Feed server technology and the Tenfore Wholesale data feed, the Tenfore/FMLX Data Feed Solution is a managed Tenfore broadcast data feed covering Stocks, Futures and FX, streamed via the Internet and presented in XML or a client's own choice of data format.

With un-rivaled ease of integration, the new service has been developed for retail and institutional financial web sites, on-line brokers, application vendors, wealth management solutions, trading floors, corporate web sites and intranets.

"The Tenfore/FMLX Feed Solution offers the breadth of market data information available from Tenfore with the flexibility of the FMLX data feed management technologies from Finance Media.

You can select the data you want, the markets you want, even down to the instruments you want and then we can send it to you real-time, delayed, batched or streamed and all in the format of your choice", said Jim Kissel, Project Development Manger Finance Media. "Then with our simple to use FMLX API toolkit and standard data formatting, the net result is that development and integration time-scales are reduced by some considerable margin. In today's cost and time conscious environment this is always a key factor when deploying any data-driven financial market products".

The Tenfore/FMLX Data Feed Solution offers access to most major stock and commodity exchanges and FX markets from Tenfore and provides multiple data scheduling options including - Data sent real-time, in one-minute up-dates, delayed, delayed in one-minute intervals or streamed dynamically in real-time.

Delivery options include; Internet, leased line or VPN.
